

NEW NEW ZEALAND LUXURY HEALTH RETREAT

A retired medical doctor and his wife, who share a passion for wellness and longevity health, have opened a unique health and wellness retreat on the New Zealand coast. Split Apple Retreat in New Zealand's sunshine capital of Nelson offers accommodation on a secluded golden beach surrounded by mountains and untamed wildlife with fine cuisine and wine from the Nelson and Marlborough regions. The retreat is a luxury enclave of Japanese-inspired serenity. All stays include three meals a day designed to enhance your health and weekly packages include a wellness evaluation with blood tests and individual nutritional programs that guests can take home. Guest facilities and services include massages, facials, infrared sauna, steam room and a heated salt infinity pool overlooking the ocean along with cooking classes, yoga and meditation.

Rates: Weekly packages including all meals, a wellness evaluation and transfers start from A$7,013. AL

Lost in translation is now a concept of the past. Google's Goggles Translate is a new camera phone application constructed from a hybrid of Google's pre-existing apps "Goggles" and "Translate."

The new application will allow you to take a photo of any landmark, sign, book, menu or barcode with your camera phone and Google will scour its vast database and translate, review or locate the images that you have taken. You'll now be able to navigate your way through foreign countries with greater ease. AL

I THINK THEREFORE I EVOLVE

Omas has created the limited edition fountain pen I Think inspired by the great adventures of Charles Darwin and his scientific research. Made of precious jewels, the fountain pen represents the voyage Darwin made across the oceans aboard the British brig HMS Beagle with the exact route engraved using a hand controlled pantograph. The limited edition rose gold fountain pen with diamonds retails for A$29,900 and is also available in yellow gold and silver. AL
